Council Petitioned to Have Debris Removed

Want Premises where buildings burned cleaned up

At a regular meeting of the town council held last Monday Evening Mayor Worts was in the chair and councillors Champ Cox, Campeau, Daere, Brydell and Shaw were present.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes Z. Kohler waited on council to enquire re his account in connection with his son who is now in a training school at Red Deer. Mr. Kohler claimed he was unable to pay this account at present but council informed Mr. Kohler that it was up to him to deal with Mr. McGregor in whose hands the account had been placed.

On motion made, the secretary was instructed to issue notice to all town tenants in arrears for rent, giving them one month's notice to vacate the property.

On motion of councillors Champ and Brydell the offer from Adam Dubouard of $50.00 for building in Lockwood was accepted.

The School Board wrote asking for funds for payment of hours for month of March. This was ordered paid.

A bill for the funeral expenses of Peter Herald was read. The Secretary was instructed to write the Old Age Pension Board and Utilities Commission re this account.

A petition was read from merchants and residents on Third Street asking council to have debris on property on which buildings were burned down, cleaned up. They claimed present condition was unsightly and detrimental to the value of these property.

On motion of councillors Daere and Cox the secretary was instructed to notify the local Legion to have debris on old property cleaned up at once and also that property previously occupied by Mr. Henderson on Third St. be torn down and moved.

Mr. Gershaw reported that the assessment for the town had not been expected to have report for setting of council.

AUSTRALIA WHEAT POOL HAS BANK BACKING

The Commonwealth Bank of Australia will co-operate in a practical scheme for financing the proposed compulsory Wheat Marketing Pool, Sir Robert Gibson, chairman of the bank, gave this assurance to Prime Minister James Scullin.

Thus the great proposal to bind Australia's wheat producers in a great selling organization is progressing to the final stages. The basis is a Federal Government guarantee of 96 cents a bushel for wheat delivered at country sidings. Most state governments have approved the proposal, which is for a Commonwealth Marketing Board supervising state boards.

Travelling Clinics For School Children

Arrangements Must be made for Same by April 15

The department of Public Health at Edmonton is making a strenuous effort to have a system of clinics for school children throughout the province and is asking the co-operation and support of School Boards and municipalities in the movement.

All children in districts served by these clinics receive a physical examination by the Public Health nurse, and also at the clinic, a thorough Medical examination and medical advice entirely free of charge.

Any school board on municipality wishing to have the clinic in the district is asked first to solicit the co-operation of neighboring schools and then make application to Miss Kate S. Bright, acting superintendent, Public Health Nurse, Parliament Buildings, Edmonton. These applications must be in before April 15th.

Mr. & Mrs. R. Cann of Brooks last weekend in town visiting the former parents, to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Cann.

Mr. J. R. Ried, who has been spending the winter in California arrived in town last week and to visit his daughter, Mrs. E. L. Stone.

Last Tuesday morning Miss Helen (Terry) Walker, of the Post Office staff, went to the Medicine Hat hospital for a minor operation. The public will miss that cheerful good morning and hope Terry will have a speedy recovery.

Dr. Gershaw Writes 'About Wheat Market'

Says Ottawa Confident Pool Has Bright Prospects

During the past six months much has been heard and read about the present condition of the wheat market, and the wheat Pool and the effect both have on present conditions in Canada. A letter from Dr. Gershaw, member for this constituency in parliament, to the Review this week gives a good outline of marketing conditions through the world. After referring to the formation and growth of the Wheat Pool in Canada and the assets and influence of the Pool, Dr. Gershaw goes on to say in his letter:

"Great credit is due to the organizers of this movement. The great victories organized labor has won, no one could honestly question the right of the producers to organize in this way. Few or none will question the success with which difficult problems have been solved in the past, and all hope that the difficulties now looming up will be met in the same way."

"In Great Britain four co-operative organizations have a share of 60 per cent. of the British millers and they are a united force in presenting their price views. The British government is trying to encourage home production of grain. Other European countries are endeavoring to accomplish the same end by increasing tariffs on imports. Germany has a tariff of 60c a bushel against wheat coming in Italy has increased her tariff to 75c per bushel and France to 53c. France and Germany have also been paying bounties to encourage the export of wheat and flour. Because of this their wheat has sold in England at 30c per bushel less than the cost of production in the British Isles."

Company Organizing To Build Airplanes In Old Shoe Factory

Will Instal Electric Light Plant And Make Other Improvements To The Building--Will Start Building Airplanes as Soon as Possible.

Developments in connection with the establishment of the manufacturing of Airplanes in Redcliff have advanced considerably during the past week. The Dominion Air Industries Limited have leased the building known as the old Shoe factory, from Bud Osborne, who purchased it from the town a few months ago. The company also has the option of purchasing the building at any time.

The first move on the part of the new company will be to install an electric light plant in the building and make other necessary enlargements.

Mr. Somerton, who is superintending the organization of the Company, was in town this week with a model of their new machine which is perfect in every particular.

It is the intention of the company to commence the building of its first machine in the very near future and, from the encouragement they are receiving from all quarters there is every reason to believe the venture will be a success from the start. As the flying field in connection with the building comprises 268 acres the company has ample bushel against wheat coming in Italy has increased her tariff to 75c per bushel and France to 53c. France and Germany have also been paying bounties to encourage the export of wheat and flour. Because of this their wheat has sold in England at 30c per bushel less than the cost of production in the British Isles."

The Russian government is giving this problem close study and they may have what to export next fall. Also hard times in Europe tend to reduce the consumption of wheat flour, as cheaper foods are used. Australia, however, will have little wheat for export this fall. "Argentina had an unfortunate experience this year and will construct an elevator system to increase the necessity of putting grain on the boats and taking any old price."

"The problem of maintaining Canada's premier position as a wheat exporter involves the prosperity of the whole dominion. A Pool official has said that in the final analysis, the law of supply and demand must be dealt with intelligently. Thousands of letters have reached the Pool complaining them on their policy, and at Ottawa confidence is expressed that the Pool will work into brighter prospects."

FARM FOR SALE

Half section of land in the East Springs district. Will accept crop payments plan with small payment down. This is a new farm and it is in good condition. For particulars apply to Robt. Marty, St. Seventh St. Redcliff.

Good Shows For Camco Next Week

"The Black Watch" which comes to the Camco next Monday is based on Talbot. Mundy's story of India and deals primarily with the adventures of a government agent on a secret mission, with his comrades believing he has asked for the assignment to escape the battlefields of France.

In view of the present conditions in India this should be an interesting picture.

"Marked Money" which will be shown Thursday is a melodramatic picture that is bound to please every fan. It has all those qualities that go to make strong virile screen entertainment. It is packed with thrills and every scene has a laugh.

Junior Conglan, leading juvenile screen artist has the leading roll in this picture. He is only ten years old.

Special For Sunday--Chicken Supper from 5 to 8 o'clock p.m. Price 45c a plate at the Elite Cafe, opp. Review Office.

Burglaries are now becoming a common event in Redcliff. Last Sunday night another occurred when a thief broke into Gust's Store and helped himself to cigars, tobacco and canned goods. The thief entered the store by the back door. He evidently had a bad thirst as several fruit cans were opened and only the juice taken out.

Illustrated Lecture In Cliff Hall, April 3

Under the Auspices of the Hat Salvation Army.

Brigadier Geo. Smith who is in charge of the Salvation Army Work in Southern Saskatchewan will visit here on Thursday, April 3rd, and will give an illustrated lecture in the Cliff Hall, at 8 p.m. on "Indians and their Totems."

The Brigadier in his lecture will take his audience for a trip through the Rockies, up the inside passage on the steamer to Northern British Columbia and Alaska.

On the journey he will show by his slides the splendid mountain scenery and the glaciers of Alaska. He will also show pictures of the Totem Poles with their unique carvings and explain the meaning of the same. The Salvation Army has a very extensive work among the Indians of British Columbia and Alaska, and the Brigadier who has taken many of the pictures himself, will give a very interesting and instructive lecture on the customs, legends and Christian efforts among the natives of that far north country.

A treat is in store for all who attend. Tickets are 25c.

INCREASED SOURCES OF REVENUE FOR PROVINCE

During the last four years a total of 19 new sources of revenue have contributed to the provincial treasury, according to a return prepared by Hon. R. G. Ried provincial treasurer and minister of municipal affairs. Total sources of revenue now number 174.

A question was asked on the subject in the legislature last week by D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, and Hon. Mr. Ried undertook to supply the information.

During the year ending March 31, 1929, these 19 sources contributed more than $300,000 to the province's coffers.

Miss Beatrice Tester, who has been in the hospital for several weeks, has returned home. Although her arm still needs attention she is progressing nicely.

In future all readers and copy for changes of Advs. must be in this office by noon on Wednesday. Otherwise we cannot guarantee them being in the issue of that week.

The local Legion is making arrangements to have the I. O. O. F. of Med. Hat put on their minstrel show here early in April. Watch for further particulars.

Took Soda For Stomach For 20 Years

"For 20 years I took soda for indigestion and stomach gas. Then I tried Adierka. One bottle brought complete relief." J. B. Hardy.

Adierka relieves GAS and sour stomach in TEN minutes! Acts on BOTH upper and lower portions of the stomach. Never knew worse there. Don't feed with medicine which cleans only PART of the bowels, but let Adierka give stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel! Cecil T. Hall, Druggist.

How the North Develops

Feasible-Mining Town Of Ice Now Becomes a Hay and Fish Centre

The Psa. In Northern Manitoba, once known as a trading post, then a frontier town, a lumber camp and a mining town, it is becoming known as a hay and fish centre. It all came about with the dry season on the prairie last year and the completion of the Psa. from railway and other lines to the north. The farmers wanted hay on the prairie and they started taking it out by the trainload. That was a new start for the hay industry. Then hundreds of fishermen swarmed the numbers that went up the new steel lines to tap new lakes. That meant a big market for the fishing industry.

All went as merry as a marriage bell for awhile, and then came groans of discontent. Now it is argued that the lakes are going to be drained, that the lakes will be depleted and the north will be no better off.

A new industry, or one that is coming into its own, naturally suffers growing pains. That's about all there is to be in the future of the north, the increase of output in the north this year.

Survey shows that while Chicago eats the fish, the north gets the money to spend. And those in the business claim that the fish industry is a self-sustaining business in which Manitoba provides practically everything necessary to the industry and the people get the cash.

There is a fish box factory in The Psa where the merry hum of the saw may be heard all day. Lumberjacks are using Manitoba wood. The boats used on the nets are made from cedar from southern Manitoba.

The leads for the nets come from Winnipeg. The nets are of Irish linen made in Scotland, for the most part, although some come from Chicago.

The hay for the feed is brought in from the Carrot River Valley, adjacent to The Psa. The oats come from farmers around the Psa.

Much of the money paid out for fish in the south goes into wages for fishermen who land the fish, the fishermen themselves, the wages of railroads who live in this country, and whose trains haul the cars. The local stores sell fishermen's supplies and outfits.

That the industry is growing and is pushing northward as an all-Canadian project is shown by the fact that already one fish firm, that of Norman Brothers, Beaver, has set up their own portable saw-mill near their camp and are making their own fish boxes on the spot.

One fish man figures that out of every ten cents' worth of fish caught in the north, seven cents is spent in the district. He states further that being a self-contained industry, it is one that helps, and will continue to help, make Canada's trade balance better to look at, and further, that so long as a policy of conservation is maintained there will be no depletion.

What a Dreamer Accomplished

Discoverer Of Marquis Whose Dream a Reality

In the Johns Hopkins University Magazine is an account of what Charles E. Saunders has done to "push back the frozen river of the Arctic Pole. He is described as a "poetic dreamer," yet in one year 20,000,000 acres in Canada and the United States were sown in Marquis wheat. At the price at which the estimated product was sold in that year the total crop was valued at $2,000,000. The narrow strip of "habitable Canada," stretching across the continent, has become "several hundred miles broader and more fertile" as the studies made by a "dreamer" on an experimental farm—New York Times.

"What must one do to have beautiful lands?" "Nothing."

"There are lots of human beings who can't stay up long without recalling."

Finds Deceit Was Costly

Wrong Age Given Years Ago Hints To Police

Fifty years ago a boy young thing archly and perhaps pardonably fibbed that he was five. Today, the result of her youthful vanity, a little old lady is having difficulty in obtaining an old age pension. It was somewhere in the '60s that the census-taker called upon a small Ontario town. To one young woman who answered the door the thought of trying to beguile who might beguile the census-taker into revealing confidences was stronger than her vanity for vanity. And then the harm was done.

A few weeks ago her application came in to the old age pension board at Toronto. In it her age was given as over 70. But a reviewer of back census data a different story. The little old lady was sent for. She arrived, and, according to the official who interviewed her, looked all the years she claimed, and more. With her came her son of 53.

And no the pension board in considering the evidence of her son rather than the census-taker. After all, feminine vanity is not an unknown quality.

This is but one of the many incidents that bring understanding years ago to the present. The old age pension board at the Parliament buildings, Hon. David McGee, of Manitoba. The board, states that they have dealt with over 21,000 applications, and last month sent out over 19,000 checks.

Did Not Miss Bow Bell

But London Will Show Her Fanciful Chances Again

After years of silence, Bow Bells are going to ring again. The Corporation of the City of London, has made a grant of a thousand guineas ($6,250), to the rectory and church wardens of Bow Church, for repairs to the church, which will include the ringing of the bells. Those in the business claim that the fish industry is a self-sustaining business in which Manitoba provides practically everything necessary to the industry and the people get the cash.

Much of the money paid out for fish in the south goes into wages for fishermen who land the fish, the fishermen themselves, the wages of railroads who live in this country, and whose trains haul the cars. The local stores sell fishermen's supplies and outfits.

That the industry is growing and is pushing northward as an all-Canadian project is shown by the fact that already one fish firm, that of Norman Brothers, Beaver, has set up their own portable saw-mill near their camp and are making their own fish boxes on the spot.

One fish man figures that out of every ten cents' worth of fish caught in the north, seven cents is spent in the district. He states further that being a self-contained industry, it is one that helps, and will continue to help, make Canada's trade balance better to look at, and further, that so long as a policy of conservation is maintained there will be no depletion.

The spring silhouette is long, the tendency to raise the waistline to an elegant, almost level, as apparent in the Winter Collections, having come to a speedy end, writes Society, Paris correspondent of "Mayfair," in forecasting the spring mode in its latest issue of that magazine. "Waists, on the whole have dropped back to the waist line, although on many dresses a belt still defines the normal waistline slightly above the hips. Evening dresses, closely moulded to the figure, swing with much fullness below an almost low waistline. There is a preference for flat, almost draped, light for afternoon and evening wear; and in some cases models carried off in the sheath tunic are to be seen. Even walking and sports dresses are made with a series of pin-point pleats across the hips. Briefly, the spring silhouette is adapted essentially to youthful contours and will still be unkind to women inclined to stoniness."

Will Be Important Document

Victorian Esher, 77, who was for many years one of the most noted and influential British writers, died suddenly in London, Eng. He left a war diary in the custody of the British Museum to be kept sealed until 1981. Since the Victorian was closely associated with royalty, and was representative in France of Lord Kitchener, when the latter ruled the war office, his diary one day is expected to furnish most important historical material.

Where Flowers Are Blooming

Orchards and farming land in the Ottawa Valley, B.C., which went into winter very dry, have benefited since by moisture from melting snow, which drew out the small amount of frost that was in the ground. Flowers are blooming at Pashland, B.C.

"I've just been wondering whether that suggestion I've suggested to operate on me is a good one."

"Dimo. I'm being operated on the stock market lately, I hear."

PURE BRED STOCK FOR ANTIPODES

Music and Musicians

Finest Orchestra Will Often Murder Piece They Do Not Like

It is wonderful to hear some very fine orchestra render beautifully many compositions; then it is surprising and peculiar to hear the very same orchestra play other musical compositions and really sometimes murder them. But the truth of the matter is this—Musicians have their taste in music the same as one has in foods or their likes and dislikes of everything in the world. As soon as a bunch of musicians are handed a piece to play—if the musician like that number, they play it like nobody's business, but God help the piece of music that is given them to play and which they do not like. A musician must put his heart and soul into the music he draws from his instrument. If he doesn't like the composition he cannot do it. To have a piece played really successfully it must have the one hundred per cent admiration of every man in the orchestra, and if there should be difference of only a few, it makes all the difference in the world.

Profitable Tourist Trade

An estimated total of 4,000,000 tourists crossed the border from the United States into Canada during 1928, breaking all previous records in this connection. It is reported by the Department of National Revenue, O. the basis that each tourist spent about $75 while on the Canadian side. This would represent a total of $300,000,000.

Regins Building Permits

Regina building permits for the year 1928, cleared the $10,000,000 hurdle by a small fraction, the total being $10,022,881, as compared with $8,610,200 for 1927.

Train Wins Race for Life

The speed of a modern railway engine was pitted against death in a race for the life of two-and-a-half-year-old Delphi Mott, Sudbury boy who lay dying of intestinal influenza. A special Canadian Pacific Railway train, rushing the sick child from Sudbury to Toronto in less than a half-hour, and a hospital and specialists were reached in time for a blood transfusion to save his life. The train was given the right-of-way over all other trains and with the co-operation of all officials and employees of the company, was able to clip two and a half hours off the regular schedule.

Consolidates Canada's Position

Alphons Has Brought Northern Outposts Within Easy Reach

The first mail flight to Alakavik and return was completed recently when two aeroplanes dropped on to the icebergs in Hinmimut, which they had left just a month previously. Mail had been carried 2,000 miles into the Arctic circle; dwellers on the outer fringes of the Northwest territories had been brought into touch with civilization with the reception of Christmas presents packed two weeks before their arrival.

The significance of the occurrence is that it has demonstrated that thought is given to the immensity of the undertaking. In the first place such a trip was the first of its kind to be made in history. Again, without the medium of flight a return visit to the Arctic circle in mid-winter would have been impossible.

But the major factor lies in the realization of the proximity of Canada to the northern territory when viewed in the light of aerial transportation. Much has been said regarding the possibilities of the aeroplane, but the flight to Alakavik focuses the possibilities which are afforded in Canada as a clear perspective.

The northland is capable of developing solely in proportion to its accessibility. Though it may be many years before it is feasible to fly direct in various parts of the north, the aeroplane has brought that area into tangible and commercial proximity to the industrial centres of Canada.

Lines of communication are the strength of an army's outposts and the aeroplane has consolidated immeasurably Canada's position.—Financial Post.

Hatching Days Of Egg Production

Early Hatched Eggs Show Greater Egg Production

The dates on which chicks are hatched are being used to have some basis on their production of eggs as follows the following autumn. A project to study this question was undertaken at the summerland, B.C. Experiment Station, the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It was found that the eggs from each bird of the March and April hatched chicks were approximately 10 per cent more than eggs from birds hatched in April. Late hatched birds, however, have been shown to have an advantage in the second season, although enough to make up for the loss the first year. According to the superintendent of the station, when once the birds settle down to work they gained a little each month on the early hatched birds with one or two exceptions.

A January Love Song

(Detroit Saturday Night)

I love the bitter, biting cold,
I love the snow and sleet;
I love the ice that makes it nice
For traffic or the street.
I love to lie the furnace fire
And lose the coal about,
And once in a while to make it unique
To take the ashes out.
I love my heavy overcoat
And winter underwear;
I love to use my overboots
When going anywhere.
And then I love the days that bring
The January thaw.
And after these, a sudden freeze,
With north winds cold and raw.
Ah, yes, I love the winter time—
And if you say that you
Agree with me, then you must be
Fretting, fretting, too!

Products Of The Farm

Where Many Of Canada's Leading Men Started Life

It's the fact that produces the boys that climb to the high places. The Vancouver Province in a survey found that most of the leaders in that city had worked on a farm on one stage or another in their lives. Major-General Mulholland and Chas. Woodward, leading department store owners, started off at "50 cents a day" and all they could get." Gen. J. W. Stewart, who commands Canada's railway construction corps overseas during the Great War, worked as a laborer on a farm in Quebec. Mayor Melvin also reported that he had worked on a farm at one time. All the Prime Ministers of the western provinces started life on the farm. And we are sure there are just as ambitious boys on the farm today, and they will rise in Canadian service in the years to come. The Lethbridge Herald.

Representative of gas company, to lady of the house: "I hear you have got an old dryer here that won't get any more clothes out of it."

Lady: "It's not in it." He's down at the town hall getting the deed!"

To Dignify Agriculture

Master Farmer Movement To Its Post In Operation In Wisconsin, One Of The First

The master farmer scheme, to dignify agriculture and reward thirteen farmers who have made a real contribution to community life, was outlined by L. T. Chapman, Winnipeg, editor of the Northwestern Farmer, before the convention of the Saskatchewan Agricultural Societies, at Saskatoon. Mr. Chapman stated that it was proposed to put the movement into operation during the present year, when 12 gold medals would be awarded to Western farmers who could qualify for the honor. Four of these medals will be awarded to Saskatchewan agriculturists, nominated by neighboring farmers who have set a real example to the community during a period of years, by reason of their farming methods, home-building and active interest in community matters.

The Master Farmer Movement, introduced in Wisconsin last year by the Nor' West Farmer, has been rapidly. L. T. Chapman told the gathering at Saskatoon that it is now being adopted by 13 farm journals throughout the United States, and is now entering the Dominion.

The purpose of the movement is to recognize outstanding success in farming and in rural citizenship, the speaker explained, the use of the term successful farmers may be honored in a fitting way as scientists, educators or industrial and commerce have been honored for years.

Master farmers are decided upon by a standard score card, and to become a master farmer one must first of all be an outstanding farmer and manager, with accurate records that show a progressive and a paying land over a period of years. He must be a good husband and father, and one who provides for the education of his so-called modern conveniences in the home, which is well enough regarded by the community. In concluding his address, Mr. Chapman cited numerous instances where Master Farmers were held up as outstanding examples in their respective communities.

Consequences Of War

Is The Worst Investment That Civilization Can Make

It is in the known consequences of war, more than in its imagined terrors, that we have a guarantee of that peace which has been found out that war is stupid. It does not pay its rightful financial penalties rest upon the victors almost equally with the defeated. The image of war that Germany regarded war, in the light of her own experience, as her most promising means of trade expansion and prosperity. No nation could today, rest under that pitiable delusion. War is the worst investment known to civilization. This is perhaps the strongest reason for pushing ahead with every organization and device to the League of Nations, the Locarno Treaties, the Kellogg-Briand Treaty, naval conferences, the World Court—in order to make it clear that resort to war will never be necessary. Certain wars are already pronounced "unprofitable." But it still takes a lot of thinking, followed up by building of secure bridges of years, in order to make sure that they can absolutely be prevented.—New York Times.

Progress Means Loss

Digging into the ruins of a village that existed 6,000 years ago archaeologists recently unearthed a stone tablet bearing the image of one of the ancients milking a cow, but working from the rear with the animal's tail over head. In those 6,000 centuries we have progressed rather slowly and have moved only one quarter of the way around the globe. In any time position is as good as the other, and, as the Irishman said, a stone right better.—Farmers' Advocate.

Progress Means Loss

"Don't go. You are leaving me entirely without reason."

She: "I always leave things as I find them."

Progress Means Loss

"Look at the shoe I have caught."

"Hark," said the man who was sitting on my line."—Dore House, Montreal.
